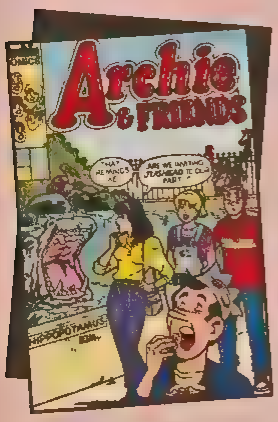
EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Dear Archie Readers,

Hope you all had a great Holiday Season! It's time to return all those sweaters that don't fit, take back the toys that don't work and clean out the moldy leftovers from the fridge. I guess the saddest thing you might have to do is recycle your Christmas tree-if it's a real one-and put away the holiday decorations for next year. Which brings me to the next issue of SABRINA. In this issue, while helping Salem and Uncle Quigley put away their decorations, Sabrina encounters one of Santa's elves. It seems that Santa was way behind schedule with his deliveries and needed an elf to help him. However, Santa was so flustered by morning, he forgot the elf was along and left him behind. The stranded elf begs Sabrina to give him a ride back to the North Pole on her brand new, sub-sonic flying broomstick. It turns out, though, that this elf is no Mr. Nice Guy. His cold-hearted scheme could mean disaster for the warm-hearted Sabrina. Don't miss "Help Your Elf" in SABRINA #15, on sale next month.

While you're shopping at your favorite comic shop or newsstand, look for a copy of ARCHIE & FRIENDS #46. A group of TV producers, hoping to entice viewers with a sensational exposé, decide to make the students at Riverdale High the subject for the latest "reality TV" series. However, their hopes are dashed when they learn the students are well-adjusted kids who do their homework, stay out of trouble and enjoy being at home with their families. Not satisfied with the results, the producers decide to use a hidden camera in hopes of uncovering the deep, dark secrets of Riverdale's teens. The secret that they do uncover turns out to be the biggest mystery of all.



Be sure to check out the all-new updated Archie website at www.archiecomics.com. It's up and running with new places to visit, games to play and lots of new items in our stuff shop. That's all for now...see you next month!

The Renaissance period

in Europe began around 1350 in Italy and ended in the 1600's in Germany. The word renaissance means "rebirth," referring to the revival of the art and culture of the ancient Greeks and Romans. This period was interrupted for about 15 years by the black plague, which killed more than half of Europe. In fact, the lyrics in the song Ring Around the Rosy is based on this tragedy. People during this time began to rebel against old beliefs, such as the world is flat. Columbus proved it wasn't, and you could now travel to new continents. The people of the Renaissance were hungry to learn and explore new ways of thinking and seeing. Leonardo da Vinci was a "Renaissance man." He was a scientist, a painter, a sculptor, an engineer, an anatomist, a botanist, a mathematician and a philosopher. Other artists of this time included Michelangelo, William Shakespeare, Raphael and John Milton, whose works of art can be found in major museums, such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

Chocolate

By Jeremy Elkins, Northbrook, IL

In 1528 Hernando Cortés, the conqueror of Mexico, took some cocoa beans to Spain. In about 1606, cocoa beans were introduced into Italy. Shortly after, people in Austria and France began to use the beans. Eventually, their popularity spread to England. By 1707, cocoa had become a fashionable beverage in London. Americans consume the most chocolate, but Germany, Great Britain, France, the Netherlands and Switzerland are also large users.
